Evidence-Proven Instructional Resources for use in Multi-Tiered Systems of Support

Early Literacy by Hatch

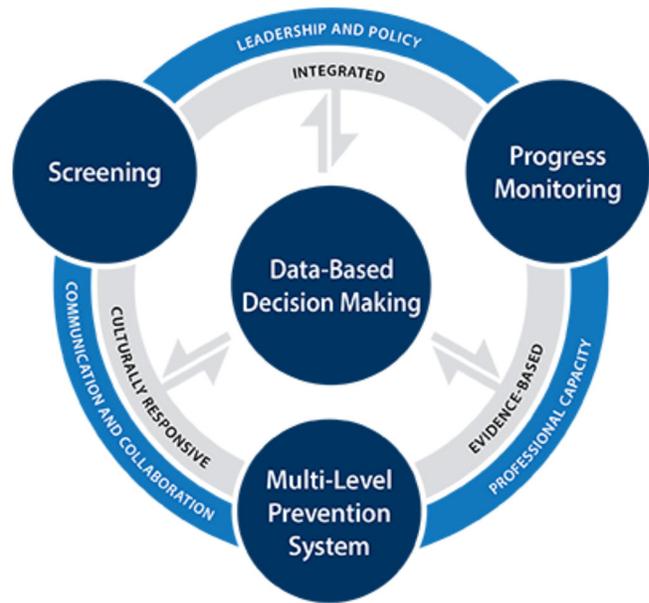

The foundational literacy resources from Hatch employ a Test, Teach and Track approach. They include a suite of valid and reliable screening tools and assessments which provide teachers with formative data that shows what students know, what they have learned, and where they have learning gaps. Teachers can use this data to drive their classroom instruction and to identify students in need of more intensive support. They can also use the data to track progress and to measure the impact of instruction on achievement, using the effect size shift.

In just ten-minutes a day, the resources from Hatch offer differentiated learning opportunities and layers of instructional support. They are designed to provide instruction in all or any of the core elements for literacy success: oral language, vocabulary, listening, phonological and phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency and comprehension. Hatch resources seamlessly integrate these skills into engaging and effective classroom lessons, helping students develop an understanding of the system that underpins written English. If some students need more support to develop particular skills, the resources can be used in a more scaffolded way with a specific focus on the skills that need support. Students experience the same evidence-proven instructional approach they are familiar with, but are provided with differentiated levels of support, additional activities, and more opportunities for supported practice, to ensure they experience success.

Hatch resources for Pre-K to Grade 2 students (Key Foundations, The Code Is the Key Grades K-2) provide research-based and research-proven literacy instruction that supports all students. The unique speech-to-sound-to-print approach ensures culturally responsive, linguistically relevant, and equitable learning environments. While the structure of lessons is consistent, the content comes from the students which means they feel valued because of their contributions, and lessons are relevant to their own life experiences.

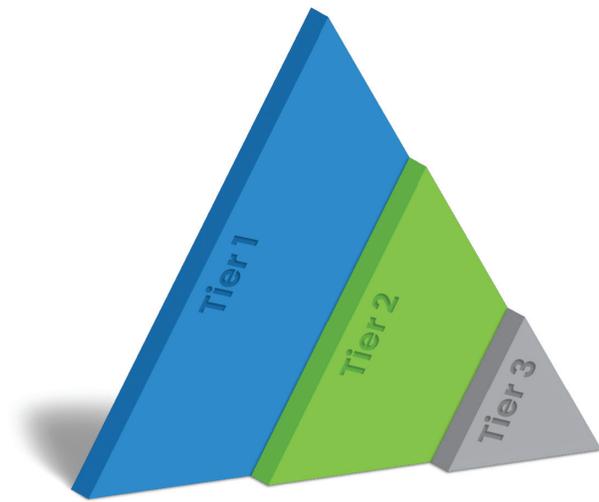

Teacher support is provided within the lessons, and in a dedicated professional development resource (Elevate & Evaluate) which provides strong support for elevating teacher knowledge about effective literacy practice.

The following pages will show how Hatch instruction supports all the essential tiers and elements of MTSS implementation.

Additional small-group instruction, application, and practice for some students, scaffolded to meet identified needs

Tier 3 Intensified support

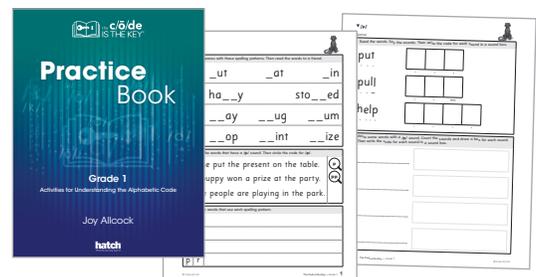

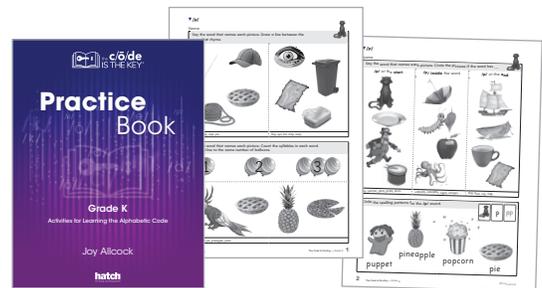

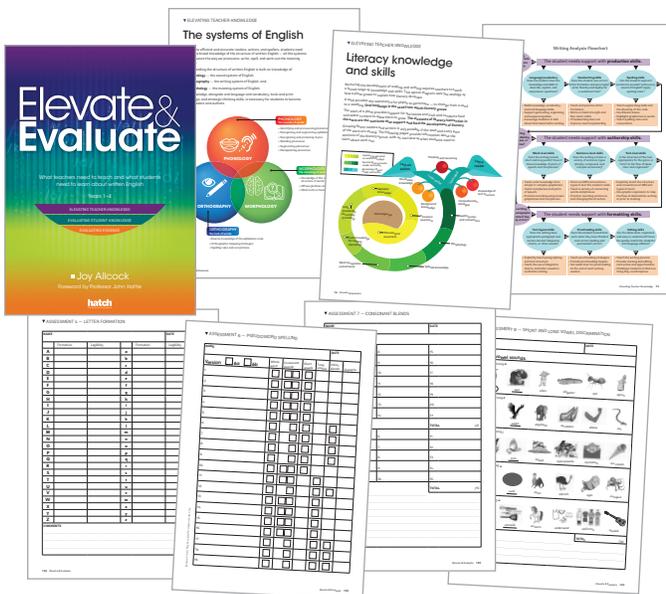

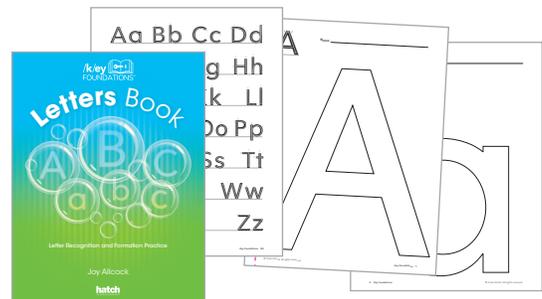

Additional targeted and individualized support for a few students with greater needs

Screening and progress monitoring

Assessment tools for universal screening, regular progress monitoring, and data-driven decision making

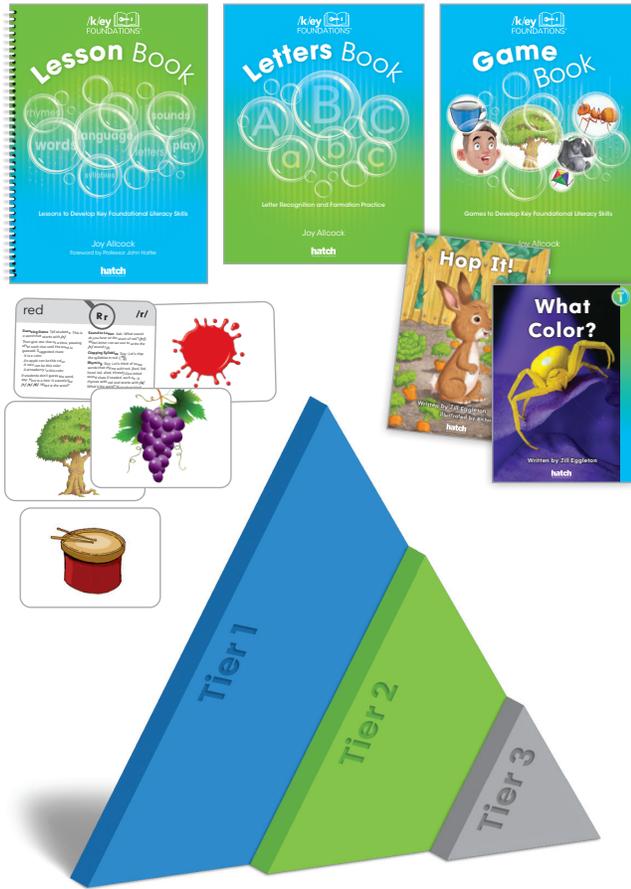

Professional development

Built-in support, information, and resources for understanding and teaching written English
